— EDITION 1 —

A classic collection of beautiful tiles...

Tile Classification

- C1 Soft soled footwear or bare feet areas, bathrooms and bedrooms without direct access from the outside.
- C2 Living areas of homes but with the exception of kitchens, entrances, and other rooms which may have a lot of traffic.
- C3 Residential kitchens, halls, corridors, balconies and terraces.
- C4 Regularly used areas, entrances, commercial kitchens, hotel bathrooms.
- C5 Heavy pedestrian traffic over sustained periods (eg public areas such as shopping centres and hotel foyers).

Shade Variation

- SV Each tile will vary in shade and colour to give the overall effect of a natural looking stone or tile.

Slip Resistance

- R9 Suitable for dry conditions
(Such as commercial pedestrian walkways that require high wear resistance and are easily cleaned. Venues examples include entrance halls, corridors, shops and general pedestrian walkways).
- R10 Suitable for wet conditions
(Such as internal / under cover commercial pedestrian walkways, which may be wet from time to time. Products with this rating have high wear resistance and a textured surface that aids water displacement and improves slip resistance. Venue examples include commercial toilets, ensembles, washrooms and commercial kitchens).
- R11 Suitable for hydro conditions
(Such as internal and external commercial pedestrian areas that are specifically designed for wet bare foot conditions. Tiles with this rating have high wear resistance and a textured surface that aids water displacement and improves slip resistance. Tiles with this rating are also frost resistant. Venue examples include shower recesses, pool surrounds and hydrotherapy rooms).
- R12 Suitable for wet conditions
(Such as internal and external pedestrian ramps wet and dry. Tiles with this rating have high wear resistance and are frost resistant).

Selecting your Tiles

There are several types of tile available and they vary in their technical properties. It is essential you select the correct tile for your situation.

Glazed Ceramic

The obvious choice for walls in bathrooms, kitchens and laundry areas. They come in various sizes from tiny mosaics to as large as a metre. Large tiles make rooms look bigger as there are fewer grout lines. High quality white glazed tiles can be inexpensive and look dramatic teamed with vibrant patterned borders. Glazed floor tiles are beautiful in conservatory floors and reception rooms but are not suitable for outdoor use or heavy traffic areas. They need protecting from grit if they are near an external door.

Unglazed Ceramic

Normally used in commercial and industrial settings and available with slip resistant profiles for wet areas. They are wear, stain and frost resistant. They are robust so are ideal for laundry and utility rooms, bathrooms, playrooms and garages. They withstand heavy foot and light wheeled traffic. Slip resistant tiles have different profiles for bare feet or shoes, the more slip resistant the more difficult to clean.

Porcelain

These are the most popular as they are beautiful and extremely hard wearing with good anti-slip qualities. Similar to unglazed ceramic and often made to look like natural slate stone or wood laminate. There are both porcelain wall and floor tiles and many ranges that are suitable for either. Available glazed or even polished. Many ranges have the same colours in matt and gloss to let you create subtle pattern effects. They are fired at high temperatures so they are frost resistant and can be used inside or out.

Mosaic

Small pieces of ceramic tile or glass usually sold in sheets on a mesh backing for ease of fixing. You can use these all over a wall or as border tiles. They are very useful for fitting to non square shapes such as purposely curved walls or uneven surfaces.

Terracotta

These are made from natural clay like quarry tiles but are fired at lower temperatures and vary in water absorbency. They are unsuitable for exterior use in the UK's climate, as they are not frost resistant. Most need sealing prior to and after laying and your supplier will advise on the products to use. These are much lighter than quarry tiles varying from terracotta colour of a plant pot to almost white.

Quarry Tile

The traditional cottage kitchen quarry tiles are made from natural clay, some are frost resistant and can be used for floors internally or externally. Their natural clay surface gives good slip resistance and are very hard wearing. They come in rich warm shades of red and brown with a great deal of natural variation in colour. They do not need sealing and over time develop their own rich patina.

Natural stone products, Limestone, Marble, Granite, Slate

Small pieces of ceramic tile or glass usually sold in sheets on a mesh backing for ease of fixing. You can use these all over a wall or as border tiles. They are very useful for fitting to non square shapes such as purposely curved walls or uneven surfaces.
